

Why Espouse a Heresy Like Calvinism?

By: David A. Sargent

Calvinism is a proven Heretical teaching: Why I am NOT a Calvinist. There is no story of the Calvinistic predestination anywhere in Genesis 1 or 2. This is the premise on which Calvin bases his pentagram points of pagan fatalism. The points are the acronym TULIP:

1. Total Depravity: Totally moronic considering the Calvinist was predestined to heaven already according to Calvin. If you are already predestined to hell then you are totally depraved and cannot choose to receive Jesus Christ. This disallows the gospel to be preached. The Calvinist must come to the realization that he was already chosen. His trust is in his predetermined election and NOT on the finished work of Jesus Christ at Calvary.
2. Unconditional Election: Who elected who? Every Calvinist nominated themselves in this life to be elected prior to the creation of the world. No Bible even says anything like this. So because this nut jobs think that they are totally depraved, then God must have elected THEM unconditionally without them doing ANYTHING: even believing on the Lord Jesus Christ to save them.
3. Limited Atonement: Wait! So which sins are being limited? That is an oxymoron! If the atonement is limited from certain sinners, then their sins are not covered in the atonement right? So say this sinner that was not one of the elect is a thief and the Bible says "thou shall not steal" so if this fellow's sin is not atoned then no thief has that sin atoned for. Jesus Christ BECAME SIN. If the atonement is limited, you are still in your sins. This point is the most ridiculous one of the bunch, and the next one is about as stupid.

4. Irresistible Grace: Calvin did always resist the Holy Ghost: He had Servitus condemned as a heretic for which in those days meant burning at the stake and Calvin knew this. He was therefore a MURDERER. God never told Calvin to do this. Calvin not only resisted the Grace of God but showed no grace to anyone that differed from him in beliefs or theology.
5. Perseverance of the Saints: Most modern Calvinist do not even believe this point. The Baptist have put so much pressure on them that they had to alter this to preservation but some still retain this illusion of enduring to the end to be saved. This ultimately produces a works salvation mentality. If you have to work to stay saved then you got saved by works. That goes without saying.

So, Yes proven! The logically progression the Calvinist resorts to is totally valid; the trouble with it is that it STARTS with a LIE! The soundness of the logic proves each and every point also to be a LIE without exception. If you have evidence of this transaction of predestination IN the Genesis account where God picked some to go to heaven and other to go to hell; please give me that reference so I can verify that you too are a Calvinistic pagan fatalist perpetrating heretical pentagrams and hexes on others with this damnable doctrine of devils. This way I can warn the people I love to stay away from you lest your perverted ways distort them and they find themselves in the same snare of the devil you are in.

John Calvin was from France and his French name was Jean Chauvin so it should not be Calvinism at all: it should be called Chauvinism! I do believe Servitus would have agreed. He was killed because he did not agree with Calvin's doctrines! Calvin was a chauvinistic tyrannical MURDERER!

If you want more information on Calvinism and how to answer these charlatans view my Bible Studies at <http://www.av1611kjb.org>

I was asked: "How do you define a Heretic?" Ok: Heretic is any person that teaches doctrines contrary to Paul in this age. Just because a heretic uses Paul's writings is inconsequential to this because teaching the Pauline Epistles by a Calvinist is always read with the goo-goo goggles of Calvinism. If you read the Bible with a bias, you will be deceived. 2 Peter 1:20, "Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the scripture is of any private interpretation.” And Titus 3:10-11, “A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject; Knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself.” It is defined by subversion and a condemnation of himself. All Calvinist condemn themselves because they must trust in their election prior to the creation of the earth before trusting in Jesus Christ, and when pinned down, they must say they have never actually received Jesus Christ: By their own teaching they must confess that God did that for them!
