

Reflexology

Right or Wrong?

By: David A. Sargent

We are dealing here with an entire philosophy in the discipline of Parapsychology known as Reflexology. With this in mind we need to lay some ground work and rules for study because this subject is somewhat counterproductive in its nature however the study of this subject in light of what the Bible says is enlightening as the Bible is with all subjects. First and foremost I am NOT giving any credibility to Psychology, Psychiatry, Parapsychology, or any psychic phenomenon. I do not mean I don't believe it is real, on the contrary, I do believe it is real and really evil.

Reflexology includes a number of alternative and holistic medical diagnostic and healing practices. These are considered to be natural remedies by the practitioners and have for the most part good success in diagnosing ailments of all sorts. But is it a good practice? Is it right or wrong? The end does not justify the means as some teach. Just because the outcome of a thing is good, does not make the means to that outcome good. Is it good to be successful in business? Is it right to lie, cheat and steal to get that success?

In dealing with this subject some things presented here are from the source and therefore may not be suitable for all ages, or all levels of learning. The level and degree of the depth of involvement in these arts gets deeper and darker as we progress.

One of the most used practices of Reflexology is Iridology which is the practice of looking at the iris or color of the eye to determine what is wrong with a person. This practice is purported to many to be a biblical practice because the Bible says "The light of the body is the eye..." but this piecemeal form of biblical interpretation is NOT a Bible Believing view of what the Bible SAYS. The fact is the Bible does say that, but it is NOT talking about Iridology in any way, shape or form. Matthew 6:22, “The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light.” And Luke 11:34, “The light of the body is the eye: therefore when thine eye is single, thy whole body also is full of light; but when thine eye is evil, thy body also is full of darkness.” Look at the context: Matthew 6:23-24, “But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness! No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.” And Luke 11:35-36, “Take heed therefore that the light which is in thee be not darkness. If thy whole body therefore be full of light, having no part dark, the whole shall be full of light, as when the bright shining of a candle doth give thee light.” Yet the practitioners of Iridology insist on an esoteric interpretation of the Bible as does all forms of Reflexology. Remember Genesis 3:5, “For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil.” And Genesis 3:7, “And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons.” Yet they did not become gods, but they did become like the spirit beings knowing good and evil: Genesis 3:22, “And the LORD God said, Behold, the man is become as one of us, to know good and evil: and now, lest he put forth his hand, and take also of the tree of life, and eat, and live for ever:” God protected Adam from eating from the tree of life and living in sin forever. But when his eyes were opened and was cursed because of the gain of knowing good and evil. This has nothing to do with Reflexology at all.

Your eyes are very important: Psalms 101:3a, “I will set no wicked thing before mine eyes...” and Psalms 119:18, “Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law.” Your eyes are meant to read the Bible; not be read by others. Psalms 141:8, “But mine eyes are unto thee, O GOD the Lord: in thee is my trust; leave not my soul destitute.” If your eyes are unto the Lord, why are you entrusting them to a man who uses mapping charts like palmistry to tell you the past and/or future?

Iridology is to look into the iris of the eye and diagnose what is wrong with the subject. It is not biblical, it is not Christian and it is not scientific (true science)

From: <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Iridology>

Iridology (also known as iridodiagnosis or iridiagnosis) is an alternative medicine technique whose proponents claim that patterns, colors, and other characteristics of the iris can be examined to determine information about a patient's systemic health. Practitioners match their observations to iris charts, which divide the iris into zones that correspond to specific parts of the human body. Iridologists see the eyes as "windows" into the body's state of health.

Iridologists claim they can use the charts to distinguish between healthy systems and organs in the body and those that are overactive, inflamed, or distressed. Iridologists claim this information demonstrates a patient's susceptibility towards certain illnesses, reflects past medical problems, or predicts later health problems.

As opposed to evidence-based medicine, iridology is not supported by quality research studies and is widely considered pseudoscience. The features of the iris are one of the most stable features on the human body throughout life. The stability of iris structures is the foundation of the biometric technology which uses iris recognition for identification purposes.

Scientific Research into Iridology

Well-controlled scientific evaluation of iridology has shown entirely negative results, with all rigorous double blind tests failing to find any statistical significance to its claims.

In 2015 the Australian Government's Department of Health published the results of a review of alternative therapies that sought to determine if any were suitable for being covered by health insurance. Iridology was one of 17 therapies evaluated for which no clear evidence of effectiveness was found.

A German study from 1957 which took more than 4,000 iris photographs of more than 1,000 people concluded that iridology was not useful as a diagnostic tool.

In 1979, Bernard Jensen, a leading American iridologist, and two other iridology proponents failed to establish the basis of their practice when they examined photographs of the eyes of 143 patients in an attempt to determine which ones had kidney impairments. Of the patients, forty-eight had been diagnosed with kidney disease, and the rest had normal kidney function. Based on their analysis of the patients' irises, the three iridologists could not detect which patients had kidney disease and which did not. One iridologist, for example, decided that 88% of the normal patients had kidney disease, while another judged through his iris analysis that 74% of patients who needed artificial kidney treatment were normal.

there cannot be an absent patient with photos of the eye to be read.

This is because the Reflexologist has to subjugate the spiritual intity of his patient to get an accurate reading. This brings to light the actual methodology of Reflexology as a practice of spiritism. This is why there is a connection to the Yen-Yang, Eastern Mysticism, Yoga, and other such divination connections.

Let me be very clear here, I am not saying that you cannot diagnose ailments using Reflexology, there is even Teeth Reflexology Charts:

The question is: “is it RIGHT?” Not “does it make me feel good?” That is the trouble with modernism and egocentric age we are living in. The mode these days are “do what thou wilt” and “whatever makes you feel good” yet this veiled view of values is just another pagan carnal humanistic view hatched out of hell.

Reflexology has other forms including the hands:

However in dealing with the hands there is another chart very similar to this that deals with the lines on the hands called Palmistry with their charts. So what is the difference in all these things?

Why accept one and not the others? They are from the same concepts and philosophies, and all have the good intentions to do good in the end, right? After all it is only the end result that matters, right? After all the end justifies the means, RIGHT?

NO, The end generally NEVER justifies the means. The end is NEVER seen until the END. Reflexology doesn't stop there from Palmistry we see other forms of charting diagnostics for healing including Yoga and Chakra. The Chakra is yet a farther step into darkness than earlier forms of Reflexology and it leads to even deeper and darker forms of degradation and depravity including Zen Buddhism, Rosicrucian, Theosophists, Freemasonry, Illuminati, and other occult organizations.

Once you dable into the occult, it will haunt you the rest of your life. The only hope we have is to become a blood pleader. Remember the Blood of the Lord Jesus Christ. Which now before we go further I plead the Blood over this and the rest of this study. Now we will proceed into what would logically come next. The sinister darkness of some of the worst characters in history which we will be looking at in a moment.

The depth of degradation from here is insurmountable and altogether wretched. Because the Eastern Mysticism goes Westward and has invaded the world with occult practices including the Christian Churches. Many practice including karma sutraa which is extreemly perveted sex. The karma teaching infiltrated through TV shows like Oprah who invited many so called Christians on her show that promoted this practice in their teachings while not calling it Karma it was nevertheless implied. And by association she had people on that same show who did teach Karma doctrines. Yet they never told the truth about karma sutraa because it includes having sex with anyone and anything. It is a form a perversion that would procreate elephant people, and satyrs, and is a form of nymphomania.

The horific result would be hybreds of all kinds like what happened in Genesis 6 when the Sons of God cohabitated with the women of men.

What these pagans are teaching is the center of the person between the body and spirit is the mind and by mental processes you can achieve Karmah. Their basis of the Chakra Centers is not the brain where a mind is located, but the basis is the root sex organs. That is their number one Chakra.

These pagans place a lot of emphasis on sex, and are just fine with any kind of sex with any one or any thing. This is seen in the Reflexology of Sex which is shown in yet another chart.

They seem to have charts for just about everything. However because of the graphic nature of these charts only the book cover is shown here and is still way too graphic for a Bible study. Yet the truth needs to be seen because too many Christians are deceived into the more elementary forms of Reflexology and seem to think that it is ok to be involved in them.

This graphic is not complete because I decided to cover the viewable anatomy.

So now we are seeing just have far Reflexology goes further than just looking at the eye color. Yet there is actually more to Iridology than what many realize. The eyes are the most vulnerable entry into the persona of the individual. Anyone that knows the art of spirit subjugation can cross the line through the eyes and receive messages from spirits that know that individual thus giving the impression that they are reading the eyes. This deception is how the practitioners get their readings, some very much unknown how they are actually doing it and believe that they are involved in a real scientific practice instead of a paranormal practice. Deuteronomy 18:9-13, “When thou art come into the land which the LORD thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, Or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer. For all that do these things are an abomination unto the LORD: and because of these abominations the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee. Thou shalt be perfect with the LORD thy God.”

The practice of all forms of Reflexology comes under three of these abominations: divination, consulter with familiar spirits & necromancy. The necromancer usually uses a tool or chart that the familiar spirits have giving to men for the deception and the practice or act of divining past, present and/or future health or other things giving an illusion of science and thereby deceives the practitioner and their subject.

One of the foremost occult practioners was Aleister Crowley who was very wicked. His development of certain aspects of the occult helped the pagan with their paganism and practices of these Pseudosciences. The Horoscope is a combined word Horror and Scope, and the Tarot Card Deck depicts Terror.

The end never justifies the means, but these pagans think that it does and so their motto is “Do what thou wilt!” A proud statement from liars and deceivers to produce their tyrannical practices of deplorable atrocities and dispicable malicious acts of violence to the innocent. These crimanals end up in Hell Fire and Damnation because everyone of them rejected God’s way and instead chose their own way.

“Do What Thou Wilt”: The Satanic Mandate

“The whole Beatles idea was to do what you want ... do what thou wilt, as long as it doesn't hurt somebody”

~John Lennon.

“Do what thou wilt shall be the whole of the law.”

~Aleister Crowley, a Satanist

The cover of the Sergeant Pepper's album by the Beatles included a picture of Aleister Crowley.

1 Samuel 25:17, “Now therefore know and consider what thou wilt do; for evil is determined against our master, and against all his household: for he is such a son of Belial, that a man cannot speak to him.” Evil is determined against their master Satan. These are sons of Belial they speak of the damned: Romans 1:18-32, “For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness; Because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath shewed it unto them. For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, And changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and fourfooted beasts, and creeping things. Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves: Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen. For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, Backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, Without understanding, covenantbreakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them.” And Romans 2:13-15, “(For not the hearers of the law are just before God, but the doers of the law shall be justified. For when the Gentiles, which have not the law, do by nature the things contained in the law, these, having not the law, are a law unto themselves: Which shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their* thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another;)" and now on that note lets look at Aleister Crowley:

Ordo Templi Orientis (OTO)

As secret societies go, the Ordo Templi Orientis scores high marks on the "society" front, but the "secret" aspect is iffy.

After the Golden Dawn and the Freemasons, the OTO is one of the worst kept secrets in modern occultism.

Although it is most famously associated with Aleister Crowley, the OTO had an illustrious history of nearly 10 years before he came along! Oops! Did I say 10 years? I meant 10,000 years.

Carl Kellner, the founder of the OTO, was an initiated Mason from Austria who had a strange encounter with three wise men while attempting to find himself in Asia.

These keepers of the Sacred Whatever supposedly initiated him into a really, really ancient tradition of magick and mysticism, which inspired him to create his own branch of their secret society, the Hermetic Brotherhood of Light.

Later, Kellner hooked up with other Masons, Rosicrucians and Theosophists (whose worldview was generally Gnostic and who believed that all religions were basically the same religion). Kellner began to believe that he could unify the various esoteric traditions of Freemasonry with the mysteries of science and religion. This, of course, would empower him to create wealth, health and world domination. Not a bad gig (if he had pulled it off)!

Kellner created his own sect, an offshoot of Freemasonry called the Ordo Templi Orientis (the Oriental Order of the Templars). Unlike the Masons, the OTO would allow women as members (expanding the potential base as well as making the sex-orgy-rituals more fun, see below). Otherwise, at this stage, the organization was fairly similar to the Masons, and the inner circle of OTO leadership had advanced Masonic degrees as a job requirement.

Kellner's partner in founding OTO was Theodor Reuss, who had previously tried to create a revival of the Illuminati.

A Rosicrucian, Grand Master Mason and 33rd Degree Scottish Rite Mason himself, Reuss was also a singer and had taken part in the first performance of Parsifal several years earlier. When Kellner died in 1905, Reuss took the OTO from fledgling concept to formal group.

In addition to their membership in Masonry, Reuss and Kellner shared an interest in sex magick, which was a major tenet of OTO practice. Reuss and Kellner translated tantric sex manuals from the Orient and elsewhere and were enthused about its possibilities. They were particularly interested in the properties of sexual fluids in the context of alchemy. The theory (as understood by the uninitiated) generally went that the right combination of male and female juices could be used to create a "Philosopher's Stone" style magickal object of power, which could be used to create a homunculus, a magickal child.

Or something like that. Reuss toiled away in relative obscurity but with much intrigue and arcane doings involving groups with many weird names and numerical designations, until a certain Aleister Crowley came on the scene in 1910.

On a trip to England, Reuss and Crowley had a meeting of the minds which resulted in Crowley's accelerated initiation into some of the higher degrees of the OTO. Crowley was, if anything, even more deeply immersed in sex magick than Reuss. He was also a master at convincing people of his credibility, and Reuss bought into the Beast's mystique.

In 1912, Crowley was named Grand Master of the OTO in Britain and Ireland, tweaked slightly for Crowley's purposes. The lower degrees of the lodge were called the M:.M:.M:. (funky punctuation is a must for occult orders), and Crowley's manifesto announcing its launch managed to lay claim to possessing just about every conceivable source of occult knowledge, including (but not limited to) the Knights Templar, the Gnostics, the Illuminati, the Knights of Malta, the Holy Grail, the Rosicrucians, the Masons (all Rites), the Golden Dawn (and all Hermetic traditions). Crowley liked to think big.

It's hard to have a "secret" organization whose membership includes Crowley, so it's fortunate that the OTO had always been (relatively) public. The man liked to talk; he published the secrets of the Golden Dawn (of which he had formerly been a member) and distributed them to anyone who could read. "Low profile" was not in his vocabulary. And he had bigger plans than just staging orgies and granting himself self-important titles (although he unabashedly enjoyed those activities as well).

The Inner Circle: Aleister Crowley, Jack Parsons, and L. Ron Hubbard-Late 1940s-early '50s

When Reuss died in 1921, the OTO became Crowley's playground. For the Great Beast, the society offered an opportunity to evangelized his self-made religion, Thelema, which was a mystical spiritual framework Crowley claimed to have channeled nearly 20 years earlier. OTO was also a potential source of funds, along with just about everything and everyone else in Crowley's world.

Under Crowley's somewhat laid-back leadership, OTO crept forward over the course of decades. Crowley spearheaded an expansion into the United States, where the infamous Agape Lodge of the OTO played host to the Antichrist stylings of Jack Parsons. Parsons, of course, was mentor to L. Ron Hubbard, who swiped the OTO's Thelemic teachings, rewrote them into bad science-fiction and called it Scientology.

In the wake of World War II, as Crowley aged, becoming ill and self-absorbed, the OTO languished. Some branches dropped out entirely in protest of his ascension.

Crowley's successor, Karl Germer, oversaw the slowest period in what had not exactly been a booming history thus far. From the late 1940s through the 1960s, the OTO proper stopped accepting new members, while internecine warfare among various sects led to further divisions.

When Germer died without naming a successor, bloody conflicts erupted and the organization foundered leaderless for a time until Grady McMurty, a friend of Crowley's, led a revival in 1969. McMurty launched a recruitment drive and sought new members, establishing bases in Dublin and San Francisco. By this time, the damage had been done and the OTO's membership has seriously splintered into a host of offshoots, each claiming some sort of apostolic succession from Crowley, who was now the personification of OTO.

McMurty's successor was elected by what was left of the Order, as per his wishes. The leader, known as the "Caliph" prefers to be known only by his magical nom de guerre Hymenaeus Beta (his secret identity is allegedly "William Breeze," but this couldn't be independently confirmed). The organization today boasts a membership of around 3,000 (depending on who you ask). Interested hangers-on and assorted other sects would substantially increase that figure.

The OTO is more like a religion than a cult, and its major rites are closely guarded secrets that can for the most part be found by anyone who has a search engine. The organization's members, like its icon, Crowley, just can't keep a secret.

One of the most well-known OTO rituals is the Gnostic Mass, written by Crowley, which is open to the uninitiated. The Gnostic Mass is surprisingly like a Catholic Mass, except with more groping, a better sense of humor and the naked chick sitting on the altar.

The really big secrets hoarded by the OTO leadership have to do with sex magic. Higher level OTO initiates apparently spend rather a lot of time obsessing about penises (as did Crowley himself). According to various exposes of the OTO, the secrets include swallowing sperm as the ultimate form of Holy Communion, although some alleged "secret" texts of the OTO specify that the substance is "analogous" to sperm without actually being sperm, whatever that's supposed to mean.

Higher level initiates also learn a lot of tantric stuff, which can hardly be considered "secret," what with the Kama Sutra and more advanced texts available in every bookstore. Top OTO officials also practice Masturbation, heterosexual intercourse and homosexual intercourse for magical effect, once again techniques that aren't exactly top-secret in occult circles.

One major text, Liber IAO, has actually managed to remain secret, or at least offline. This book, allegedly by Crowley, supposedly delves further into the whole sperm-which-is-not-sperm thing, with all sorts of no-doubt dazzling benefits and magical powers detailed at extraordinary length (as was Crowley's wont).

One wonders exactly why OTO bothers with the secrecy thing, given the widespread discussion of its secrets and the blatant disregard Crowley himself showed for vows of silence, but it seems to be very important to them, and the OTO has sued to block publication of its most sacred rites and techniques. So if you're at a dinner party with an OTO member, don't ask if he or she swallows, or you could be opening yourself up for a world of hurt.

The symbolism used is a female sexual symbol, and is totally occultic in all aspects. This representation of the dove or a chalice are not Christian, they are pagan. Many so called Christian groups use paganism to promote their version of Christianity and practice paganism in various forms without knowing it. The rock and roll music is Satanic music, the chanting and dancing are pagan practices. Channeling for example is the act or practice of serving as a medium through which a spirit guide purportedly communicates with living persons. This is what is called divination in the Bible. Using divining rods to find water, or the unknown whereabouts of things is the use of spirit guides. This usage is what is referred to as spirit subjugation. The subjecting of spirits on others or having spirits communicate to each other for information. Another example is the term Charismatic which is the exercising a compelling charm that inspires devotion in others. A charmer or a soothsayer or necromancer are all charismatic in nature. This is not a Christian characteristic at all as it also means a magnetic personality. And the term "slain in the spirit" is the exact same as the "Kundalini" experience in Hindu. This is NOT a biblical thing, it is a practice of spirit subjugation and the manifestation of those devils upon people.

Hypnosis is used in all these forms of spiritism in the form of spirit subjugation altering the state of the subject for certain types of control or to prove the validity of the conjurer giving out that himself was some great one like Simon the sorcerer:

Acts 8:5-24, "Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them. And the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did. For unclean spirits, crying with loud voice, came out of many that were possessed with them: and many taken with palsies, and that were lame, were healed. And there was great joy in that city. But there was a certain man, called Simon, which beforetime in the same city used sorcery, and bewitched the people of Samaria, giving out that himself was some great one: To whom they all gave heed, from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is the great power of God. And to him they had regard, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries. But when they believed Philip preaching the things concerning the kingdom of God, and the name of Jesus Christ, they were baptized, both men and women. Then Simon himself believed also: and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondered, beholding the miracles and signs which were done. Now when the apostles which were at Jerusalem heard that Samaria had received the word of God, they sent unto them Peter and John: Who, when they were come down, prayed for them, that they might receive the Holy Ghost: (For as yet he was fallen upon none of them: only they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus.) Then laid they their hands on them, and they received the Holy Ghost. And when Simon saw that through laying on of the apostles' hands the Holy Ghost was given, he offered them money, Saying, Give me also this power, that on whomsoever I lay hands, he may receive the Holy Ghost. But Peter said unto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou hast thought that the gift of God may be purchased with money. Thou hast neither part nor lot in this matter: for thy heart is not right in the sight of God. Repent therefore of this thy wickedness, and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thine heart may be forgiven thee. For I perceive that thou art in the gall of bitterness, and in the bond of iniquity. Then answered Simon, and said, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of these things which ye have spoken come upon me.”

Another example of a sorcerer is Elymas the sorcerer:

Acts 13:5-12, “And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the synagogues of the Jews: and they had also John to their minister. And when they had gone through the isle unto Paphos, they found a certain sorcerer, a false prophet, a Jew, whose name was Barjesus: Which was with the deputy of the country, Sergius Paulus, a prudent man; who called for Barnabas and Saul, and desired to hear the word of God. But Elymas the sorcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, seeking to turn away the deputy from the faith. Then Saul, (who also is called Paul,) filled with the Holy Ghost, set his eyes on him, And said, O full of all subtilty and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord? And now, behold, the hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou shalt be blind, not seeing the sun for a season. And immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkness; and he went about seeking some to lead him by the hand. Then the deputy, when he saw what was done, believed, being astonished at the doctrine of the Lord.”

Another example of this is found in the damsel possessed with a spirit of divination who brought her masters much gain by soothsaying:

Acts 16:16-24, “And it came to pass, as we went to prayer, a certain damsel possessed with a spirit of divination met us, which brought her masters much gain by soothsaying: The same followed Paul and us, and cried, saying, These men are the servants of the most high God, which shew unto us the way of salvation. And this did she many days. But Paul, being grieved, turned and said to the spirit, I command thee in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her. And he came out the same hour. And when her masters saw that the hope of their gains was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the marketplace unto the rulers, And brought them to the magistrates, saying, These men, being Jews, do exceedingly trouble our city, And teach customs, which are not lawful for us to receive, neither to observe, being Romans. And the multitude rose up together against them: and the magistrates rent off their clothes, and commanded to beat them. And when they had laid many stripes upon them, they cast them into prison, charging the jailor to keep them safely: Who, having received such a charge, thrust them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stocks.”

Then we also know that rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft:

1 Samuel 15:23, “For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king.” This was King Sauls rejection by God.

Pseudoscience:

Terminology: Cargo cult science, Charlatan, Crank, Fringe theory (Fringe science, Pseudoarchaeology, Pseudohistory), Junk science Paranormal, Pathological science, Quackery, Snake oil, Superseded scientific theories, True-believer syndrome, Voodoo science.

(These are deemed Pseudoscience by the scientific community who believe in Evolution. So they will lump Creation science, Intelligent design, with the rest of these. But that does not mean that the others are also Christian in content.

It is important to apply spiritual discernment in these matters and not a carnal one as these things have to do with healing the body, not the soul or the spirit. There must be great care when dealing with spiritism and its deceptions. The healers in the Christian circles are no less than spiritists with an agenda to getting wealth at the expense of others. Yet in Acts 8:5-24 Peter denounced the money offer of Simon. Why would anyone then ask for money: “seed” faith to be healed physically? That is just wicked.)

Music reflects the musicians beliefs:

Page purchased Aleister Crowley mansion in England, which had the largest occult library in the UK. These people are not to be trusted; they are Satanist and deal with spirit subjugation as does the practitioners of all the divination practices of Reflexology including Iridology, Palmistry, Candle Gazing, Tarot Card Reading, Astrology, Dowsing, Kundalini Experiences (being slain in the spirit), Rosicrucianism, Freemasonry, the Illuminati and many others

Colossians 2:8-10, “Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ. For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily. And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power:”
